WHY THIS KIT WORKS

This Education Kit presents AEM's methodology for leading a company through ISO 9001. Their ISO products began with a desire to make a complicated process more understandable. Through numerous successful implementations in different sizes and types of companies, they've learned the techniques that work best for an effective ISO quality management system. The presentation includes tips learned from hundreds of ISO clients and workshop attendees. What ISO is, why you would want to implement ISO, along with how-to-do-it are explained in an easy-to-relate to way.

ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Doug Anton is a consultant, author and speaker helping companies improve competitiveness and profitability by applying and integrating proven strategies like ISO 9001, MRP/ERP and Lean Enterprise.

Doug obtained a bachelor's degree from Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. As a High School Industrial Technology teacher, he prepared students for vocational, technical and professional careers. During these years he also did his masters work at Utah State University.

Over 20 years of experience leading performance improvements began with two Black and Decker companies. This tenure included diverse management roles in Production, Manufacturing and Facilities Engineering.

In 1993 he founded AEM Consulting Group. Since then he has helped numerous companies of various sizes and from various industries. As a speaker, Doug injects frequent examples from his past years of hands-on manufacturing experience and scores of companies with whom he's consulted.
